STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF UNINTENTIONAL ABANDONMENT

A Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due for the referenced application was mailed by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office on December 1, 2003 to Mr. Scott Rhodes of the Strasburger & Price, LLP law firm in Dallas, Texas. The due date of March 1, 2004 for payment of the Issue Fee was entered into the firm's docket on December 18, 2003. On December 31, 2003, Mr. Scott Rhoades sent a letter to the inventor notifying him that payment of the Issue Fee was due by March 1, 2004.

The inventor, Matt Gard, acknowledges receipt of the letter from Mr. Rhodes. However, because of Mr. Gard's professional and personal circumstances at the time, it simply was overlooked.

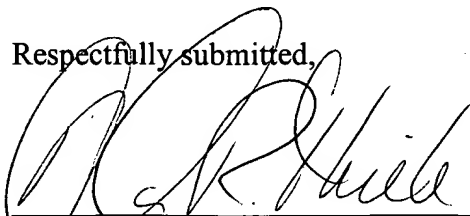

Professionally, Mr. Gard has been, and continues to be, heavily involved in work renovating the Pentagon. Of course, the events of September 11, 2001 accelerated the Pentagon renovation project because of the desire of military planners to leave the temporary quarters they were forced to occupy and return to a rebuilt Pentagon. The pressure on Mr. Gard increased when two designers and a CAD manager left the project, leaving their responsibilities to Mr. Gard. Until just recently, Mr. Gard has been working 80-hour weeks to meet contract requirements.

Personally, Mr. Gard and his wife welcomed a new baby girl into the world in January 2004. Without family nearby to assist in caring for his new daughter, Mr. Gard had to juggle being a new father with an excessive workload. With all of these demands, something was bound to get overlooked. That something was the date for payment of the Issue Fee on the patent application that Mr. Gard had prosecuted through multiple Office Actions and a Continuation Application to an allowance.

Because of the professional and personal demands on the inventor, the date came and went for payment of the Issue Fee. Accordingly, the inventor, Matt Gard, now submits this petition to accept a late payment of the Issue Fee and revive the referenced patent application which was unintentionally abandoned for failure to pay the Issue Fee in a timely manner.

Respectfully submitted,

Alan R. Thiele
